Grangers' Enterprises.

The Grangers of Southern California seem to realize the fact that to accomplish anything of importance in this practical world of ours, it is money and good management that counts, and the Patrons realizing this stubborn fact, have gone resolutely to work to organize and raise the capital necessary to put their ideas into practice.

Their most important enterprise, the Co-operative Association, for the transaction of a general merchandising and trading business is well under way, and the amount of capital necessary is now pretty much secured. This project will develop as the company gains strength and experience. We shall not be surprised if a banking department, where deposits will be received, and advances made to members, is soon made a feature of the business. Doing a mercantile and shipping business it will not be strange if they should pay some attention to the handling of freights, and it may be that to them we shall be indebted for assistance in securing reader access to market, and permanent cheap fares.

Our Granger friends may make some mistakes, but on the whole their enterprises promise substantial success, and the best thing about it is that they cannot achieve good results for themselves without benefitting the whole community. Their mercantile venture, if wisely conducted, will add to the commercial importance of this city, and in strengthening the hands of the farmers, will add to the credit and solvency of the whole trading community. Should they succeed in cheapening the cost of transporting lumber and other heavy freights, not only will our lumber dealers share in the advantage, but every one interested in the building up and improvement of the country, and who is not, will feel the beneficial effect.

Let the Grangers but remember that they can best advance their own interests by keeping in mind the general good, and they will not want for friends to wish them success in all their undertakings.

The "Insensate Mob" Opposed to Railroad Subsidies.

"Insensate Mob" and "Miserable Communists" are the gentle epithets bestowed on the Grangers by a monopoly organ not a thousand miles from one of the proposed termini of a railroad that is now before Congress asking that the people's money and credit shall be granted to it to assist in the construction of its line.

The moving cause of this outburst is the publication of the fact that one-fourth of the State of Minnesota has been given away to railroads. The paragraphist might have gone on to state that while one-fourth of the land has been given away, the whole State has practically been given over to the railway kings.

Our monopolist, however, is aggravated that any one should represent that railroads by any possibility make any money out of these grants, yet it seems that they do, else why should they be so anxious to obtain them.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana Railroad Company in Michigan has sold its lands for a sum equal to $53,000 for each mile of railroad built, the construction of the road costing not to exceed $20,000 per mile. Yet this road, paid for by the people's money more than twice over, carries freight no cheaper, in fact not so cheap as other roads built without subsidies.

The Illinois Central has realized over $25,000,000 at a low estimate on the lands given in Illinois. They have built 700 miles of road, the subsidy thus amounting to $40,000 per mile, an amount exceeding the entire expense of building the line, yet that corporation, a corporation of Englishmen and English capital, defies the people of Illinois, and arrogates a superiority over their Legislatures and their Courts. We might multiply instances of this kind, but it would only still further aggravate the innocent gentleman who after having been given a railroad, and paid liberally for taking it, can only see "miserable communists" in those who object to their gobbling up the rest of the property in the country.

GEN. SHERMAN is of the opinion that the Indians would receive more charitable treatment, and be more effectually restrained from committing depredations, by placing them wholly under military control. It is quite natural that an old army officer should have unbounded confidence in the efficacy of the War Department, and fancy that the military would succeed where citizens have failed. While it is not likely they would do much better, it is hardly possible to make matters worse, and after our good President has tried the Quaker policy in his satisfaction, we don't think he could do much better than to turn the Indians over to that hard fighter and honest old man, Gen. Harney.

Funeral of Judge De la Guerra.

A great tribute was paid to the memory of the late Don Pablo de la Guerra by our citizens, who attended, in great number, his obsequies on Sunday last.

Never has such a throng gathered in Santa Barbara to pay the last mark of respect to a fellow citizen. It is estimated that at least 2,000 persons attended the funeral—not drawn by curiosity, but by a desire to show their regret at the loss to the community of a distinguished, honorable and upright man, and the respect they held for his memory.

The procession, formed under the directions of our Sheriff, N. A. Covarrubias, at ten o'clock Sunday morning, in front of the late residence of the deceased. The pall-bearers were chosen from the members of the bar, and consisted of the following gentlemen: E. J. Maguire, Chas. Fernald, J. H. Knead, R. M. Dillard, Clarence Gray, Jarret T. Richards and Thomas McNulta.

The remains, encased in a metallic coffin, upon which was a silver tablet giving the name, time of birth and death of the deceased, were placed in an open wagon, and covered with the American flag. The following is an outline of the funeral cortege: First, Lobero's band, in uniform; second, the priests in their robes, the sisters of charity and the orphans; third, the hearse and the pall-bearers, who wore white sashes trimmed with ermine; fourth, the members of the medical and legal professions; fifth, the family and relatives of the deceased; sixth, the members of the press, and lastly the friends and acquaintances of the deceased.

The procession was very imposing, and the funeral march was very solemn. At the chapel the usual services were had, which lasted about ten minutes, and the remains were then taken to the Mission. The whole plain between the Mission and town was dotted with pedestrians and carriages; hundreds followed the remains on foot. The view of the great moving throng from the Mission steps was most picturesque. The whole scene was wonderfully impressive.

The remains were taken into the Mission Church, where a solemn requiem mass was celebrated. The church presented a beautiful suggestive appearance. The pillars were draped in mourning, memorial festoons fell from the ceiling to numerous chandeliers; the altars, as well as every part of the church, were brilliantly illuminated with candles. In the centre of the church a large catafalque had been erected, blazoning with numbers of lights, in front of which the coffin rested during the service. After mass the remains were entombed in the family vault beneath the church.

Every one seemed deeply impressed by the services. The grief of the relatives of the departed one, rendered doubly intense by the solemnity of the obsequies, was sad to behold, and moved many a heart among the witnesses of the ceremonies.

This tribute of our people to the memory of the deceased, and their sympathy expressed towards the bereaved ones, will, in the future, be a source of great comfort and gratification to Don Pablo's afflicted family and friends.—[Times.]

From the Wisconsin Saratoga.

MADISON, Jan. 29. You have heard of the Madison artesian well water. Well, it is a big thing. The well is in the basement of the Capitol, back of the engine boilers, and is bored down so near China that the water tastes a little like cold tea, and after sinking it awhile, one is inclined to slip cards up his sleeve, like Bret Harte's Heathen Chinese. What seem strange, but I know of an instance where a member who had drank nothing but artesian well water for two weeks, actually held five aces in a game called draw poker, last night. When asked how it happened he laid it to the artesian well water. There is a bill before the Assembly, granting certain privileges to three men, Charles Bross, Mark Irish, and Mr. Booth, in relation to the water. They are empowered to lay pipes to the outside of the Capitol, and sell the water, paying to the State one dollar per barrel for all water sold. They are to erect a fountain in the park and a music stand, and make a regular Saratoga of the place. There is no doubt there is great medical virtue in the water. Nearly every member here, is nearly, if not quite entirely cured. The water is so draught in all the rooms of the Capitol. Some of the members that came here mere living skeletons, now present a rotund appearance, that is cheering to behold, and many that were inclined to celibacy when they came, are so reduced that their clothes are too large for them. There is Scott Sloan, for instance, the Attorney General. Ordinarily he is so thin that to make a shadow of him, he has been compelled to wear one of those cape overcoats. He has only been here four weeks, and the last time I saw him he was getting a pair of number thirty-six boots made, and he is large in proportion. You know how thin Judge Lyndes was when he left home. Well, he has only been here two days, and to-day he looks as corpulent as though he had a piece of tissue paper spread under his vest. On the other hand, Senator Hixon, by drinking the water, has become a mere shadow. There is not much chance in Don McDonald and the subscriber, as we studiously avoid water. We hold that tea is the healthiest.—[George W. Peck to the La Crosse Democrat.]

"We're Deaf."

Everybody here knows Jim Townsend and his "jealous" wife, Sally. He gets off the following in his paper, the Santa Cruz Echo:

We thought everybody in the State knew this, but once in a while we find one who is not aware of the fact. A female book-peddler came to the office the other day. She wished to dispose of a book. She was alone in this world, and had no one to whom she could turn for sympathy or assistance; hence we should try to help her. She was married and had no manly heart into which she could pour her sufferings, therefore we ought to invest in her book. She had received a liberal education, and could talk French like a native; we could not, in consequence, pay her less than $2 for a book. We had listened attentively and here broke in with: "What did you say? We're deaf." She started in a loud voice and went through her rigmarole. When she had finished we went and got a roll of paper, and made it into a speaking-trumpet, placed one end to our ear and told her to proceed. She nearly broke a blood vessel in her effort to make herself heard. She commenced: "I am alone in this world." "It doesn't make the slightest difference to us. We are a husband and father. Bigamy is not allowed in this State. We are not eligible to proposals."

"Oh, what a fool the man is," she said in a low tone; then at the top of her voice, "I don't want to marry you, I want to sell a book." This last sentence was howled. "We don't want a book," we remarked blantly, "our wife does the cooking, and she wouldn't allow a good-looking woman as you to stay in the house five minutes. She is very jealous." She looked at us in despair. Gathering her robes about her, giving us a glance of contempt, she exclaimed: "I do believe that if a 300 pounder were let off alongside that deaf fool's head he'd think somebody was knocking at the door." You should have heard her slam the door when she went out. We heard that.

George Brown, the founder of the Swedenborgian Library in Cincinnati, has become so destitute that he is forced occasionally to seek lodgings in the station house. He was once in affluent circumstances. The spirits should now aid him.

Bunker Hill.

A little over a year more, and the 100th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill will take place. A little band of heroes, then inaugurated a struggle, which brought untold results. It is very fitting that their deeds should be commemorated. The nation at large is very justly arranging for a celebration on an extensive scale, of the centennial anniversary of this event. This will instill patriotic impulse into the souls of those of the coming generations, and prepare them for the struggles, which they, in life, must undergo. Overhanging Los Angeles is a hill similar to Bunker Hill—nay, it is larger. From it all the city can be seen and the country for miles around. On this hill also, are military marks, the remnants of a fort, which was built for the protection of liberty in this State. This hill has an avenue running along its crest, and our friend Beaudry, through whose influence chiefly it has been opened, has very appropriately named it Bunker Hill avenue. The City Surveyor has been ordered to define the grades and lines of Olive, Charity, and Bunker Hill avenue, from Hill to Hope Second street, and Temple street, from Hill to Hope. This will bring these lands within easy reach of the business part of the city. The distance to the Court House is less than it is from the Turners Hall.

Mr. Beaudry, being the owner, by perfect and indisputable title, offers the following scheme, believing that it supplies a felt want.

His various tracts have been surveyed, and platted in lots of convenient size for residences, upwards of two hundred in number, and the maps, together with abstracts of title, are kept for public inspection at his office, opposite the Pico House.

Any person desiring to purchase can inspect the land, select his lot or lots, and acquire the same, if not previously taken up by another, upon the following terms: Purchasers not being restricted to a single lot.

The purchaser or his successor to pay the fixed price of the lands selected by him, in equal monthly installments, as follows: On lots valued at $400 and upwards, but not to exceed $500, $15 per month; on those valued at $300 and upwards, and less than $400, $10 per month. Payments in gold or currency, and no interest demanded. For cash in hand a reduction of fifteen per cent. will be made.

The purchaser to have immediate possession upon payment of the first installment and on execution and delivery of contract.

The right of the purchasers may be assigned by him, and his assigns to succeed to all his privileges and liabilities, standing in all respects towards the vendor as an original obligor. Purchasers shall not be restricted to the payment of the installments as above shown, but may make payments in advance, and on all such payments he will allow one per cent. per month, from the date of payment until said payment would become due.

Upon selection of a lot or lots by a purchaser, and payment of the first installment with five dollars, in U. S. gold coin, as expenses on the document, Mr. Beaudry with the purchaser, will execute and acknowledge a sealed agreement, embodying the above conditions; and upon full payment, according thereto, the undersigned will execute and deliver to the purchaser, or his lawful representative, on demand, a good and sufficient and absolute deed of conveyance of the contracted lands, in form of warranty against grantor, the grantee paying the cost of such deed.

These proposals will be kept open until the 12th day of February, 1874.

The location is very desirable. All that has to be done is to conveyance is water, and that want is now fulfilled. Anywhere else, in as desirable location, lots readily command from $500 to $1,000 and even higher rates. This property is put at the astonishing low price of from $300 to $400. But this is not all. They may be paid in currency and a reduction of fifteen per cent. will be made for cash in hand.

Letter From Spadra.

SPADRA, Feb. 10.

EDITOR HERALD:—The movement among the Grangers of Wisconsin, mentioned in the last issue of the WEEKLY HERALD, is the proper course.

A system of county co-operation in connection with the State Grange, is preferable to the movement now on foot in this county. A county agency for the Order is what we want, and not a co-operation company, where dividends go to the shareholder. A speculative system is not in keeping with the objects of the Order, as we think. Let the Order operate as an organized body, or it will fail to ground, or long. We desire no speculative organization, but an equal distribution, according as each organization contributes from its treasury.

We farmers have had a preliminary organization for a Grange here, and twenty-four members are pledged. Our Secretary has applied to Thos. A. Garey to come and initiate us into the working of the Order.

One car-load of freight was taken to Los Angeles yesterday. Hearing the iron horse in our village reminds us of former days, in a land of older civilization.

The advent of the railroad will hasten improvement, and we shall soon enjoy society equal to any in America. B. F. S.

J. E. Reed, at the west end of Adams street, has orange trees of the very best character for sale, and offers them as low as they can be bought anywhere. Good five-year-old trees cost but $2.25, and the other inducements he offers render this a fine opportunity to buy.

Last night was a very dark one, the "Book of Holy Writ" tells us that "some men love darkness rather than light," and were that remarkable volume a production of the present century, we would strongly suspect that the passage above quoted had special allusion to the community of Los Angeles.

Mr. Lyman W. Durgin, of Gallion, Ohio, who came among us but a short time since, in search of employment, has died. He was one of the many who put off the day of their departure from the East to a milder climate, too late, and came here only to die. The deceased was a prominent railroad man of the East, he was very popular, and bore with him marks of the high regard in which he was held by his co-workers. During his brief stay in Los Angeles he made many friends, and many will mourn his death. His bereaved wife will depart, with all that is earthly of her husband, for the East, by the steamer Orizaba.

Skating Tournament.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, a large crowd of ladies and gentlemen, girls and boys, assembled at the Rink last night to witness the skating contest previously announced to take place between Frank Corneil of this city and Frank Saunders, late champion skater of Stockton. The contest would have commenced shortly after 8 o'clock, but owing to the absence of the band, it was delayed until its arrival, a little before 9 o'clock. A committee of five gentlemen (why all gentlemen our reporter could not see) were appointed as judges, and at 9 o'clock the contestants appeared on the floor, uniformly dressed and hand in hand. Were it not well known that the Siamese twins had lately died for good, the contest might have been taken for those two celebrities, so close was the resemblance in figure and movement of one to the other. The exhibition continued, each alternately taking the floor, for about twenty minutes; Mr. Corneil, evidently having made himself the favorite on the fourth or fifth round, and to him at the close the judges awarded the prize. Mr. Saunders kept up his end very well until, by some misadventure he collided with the side platform, and for an instant assumed a sitting posture. He was applauded in a manner that showed that his friends were numerous. As soon as the award was declared Mr. Saunders challenged Mr. Corneil to another contest for $100, to come off at the Rink on Saturday night, the 21st instant. After the prize skating was over, the audience took the floor, and soon had the house in a roar, with their mirth and manouvers.

A boy of twelve years of age, who had failed to keep up with his class at one of the public schools, in New York, committed suicide by hanging himself the other day. He had refused to accept his mother's advice to leave the school, and when the teacher placed his name conspicuously on the black-board as a boy who was disgracefully bad scholar, he went home and hung himself. It is not surprising to be told, as we now are, that until within a year this boy had been remarkable for his precocity. The truth, doubtless, is that his brain had given way under excessive study, and that he was sinking into the precocious stupidity that usually follows precocious mental activity.

At a meeting of the Cheap Transportation Association yesterday, information was given that a People's Freight Railroad would soon be built across the continent which would be managed in the interests of the people—that after work is fairly begun it would be completed in three years. W. W. A. Cassey, Secretary of the International Association, says the International Association of the United States and Great Britain differ from those of the Continent of Europe, and that while the latter are willing to overturn Governments by revolution the former believe that their objects and aims, which were equality to all, and the stoppage of the exactions of capital and oppression of the workingmen, could be established by means of the ballot.

Ten thousand eucalyptus trees were shipped to Centerville from Oakland February 6th.

A gentleman living in the Lower Kings river country informs the Kern Courier that from five acres of alfalfa he last year cut twenty tons of hay, and netted him ten dollars per ton, and raised one crop of seed weighing 2,300 pounds, that netted twenty cents per pound, so he made a clear profit off of his five acres of alfalfa of $640.

A remarkable rose bush adorns the cottage of S. A. Randall, the photographer of Santa Rosa, California. It was planted in 1878, and is of the Lamarque variety, the most beautiful of the white roses. Imagine an immense bouquet of white roses, twenty-five feet high, twenty-two feet across, beautifully rounded, with a blossoming surface of 400 square feet, with 4,000 full-blown roses and 20,000 buds.

FLORENCE.

Special attention is called to the great improvements made recently in this kind of machine, and to the new and elegant styles of cases added to our list.

FLORENCE.

For those who prefer a Machine feeding the work away from the operator, we now have one of that description, quiet, expeditious, and having all the other peculiar excellencies of the other style.

FLORENCE.

Is sure to please. If there is one within a thousand miles of San Francisco not working well, I will attend to it without any expense to the owner. SAMUEL HILL, Agt.
